Two $1,500 bursaries for students in the health field

WELLINGTON, PEI, March 5, 2017 – For the third consecutive year, the PEI French Health Network (PEIFHN) is pleased to announce it will be awarding two $1,500 bursaries to Prince Edward Island Francophone or Francophile students enrolled in a post-secondary health program for 2017–2018.

Students who register in the PEIFHN health student database automatically become eligible to win one of the two $1,500 bursaries. The database will allow the Health Network to provide these students with information about training and employment opportunities in Prince Edward Island.

One of the bursaries will be awarded to a first-year student starting a program in the field of health in a post-secondary institution in the 2017–2018 academic year. The other will be awarded to a student who has already started a post-secondary program in the field of health and will continue in 2017–2018.

Every year, the Health Network shares its list of bilingual students with the Department of Health and Wellness's Recruitment and Retention Secretariat, which also informs students of training and employment opportunities in the province.

Interested students have until May 31 to fill out the short participation form on the Health Network's Web site at www.santeipe.ca (Étudiants en santé button). To be eligible, the student must be a permanent resident of Prince Edward Island (holder of a Prince Edward Island health card – those who have a health card because of a student visa are not eligible), be registered in a post-secondary health program (in French or in English), be fluent in French, and accept to be added to the database in order to be kept informed about training and employment opportunities on the Island.

The bursaries will be randomly drawn in early June 2017 among all applications received.

For more information on the bursaries or on the health student database, please contact Patricia Richard by calling 902-854-7444 or by sending an e-mail to info@santeipe.ca.
